CREATIVE VISION

Grand Design Group adds beauty to the world, one room at a time.

“We can transform a space, but it’s the affect of that transformation on the people who experience the space that really matters and is why I love what I do,” says Pamela Yost, Allied ASID, interior designer, and founder of Grand Design Group.

For more than 30 years, the full-service design firm has been creating award-winning environments that capture their owner’s individuality. Yost’s talent for exceeding clients’ expectations stems from a lifelong love of design, one that led to a mid-career change after building her own home. While the firm’s portfolio showcases a diversity of styles, Yost’s personal aesthetic can be felt in the orderliness and warmth of the spaces she and her team create.

Grand Design Group’s experience, along with their organized creative process and open communication, leads to long-term relationships with clients, architects, builders, and tradespeople alike.

CLOCKWISE FROM LEFT: Catering to the client’s affinity for fine wines, Grand Design Group incorporated a wine cellar in the transitional dining room, creating a functional and architectural accent. Textures abound in a neutral bedroom, with a stunning light fixture that adds to the space’s grandeur. In a great room, dramatic drapery draws eyes upward to the coffered ceiling.

New builds and remodels are a primary focus. Yost orchestrates major projects by helping clients clarify their vision and by developing the big picture so countless details and decisions support that vision. “The layers and details add depth and character to a space to make it more than just a pretty room,” she says.

Whether starting with a hole in the ground, reimagining a space, or planning a room addition, each project is designed to endure, nurture, and elevate daily living.
